AMERICAN STUDIES
Bachelor of Arts

INTRODUCTION TO THE MAJOR
American Studies is an interdisciplinary major that provides undergraduates the opportunity to study American history, identity, culture, politics, media, and the built environment. The major offers intensive, individualized faculty advising and mentorship to help students tap into the enormous and varied resources of Berkeley to tackle the question of what is “American” about America. Our courses integrate subjects, methods, and materials from across campus, including the humanities, the social sciences, and the professional schools.

AMPLIFY YOUR MAJOR
• Take a student-run DeCal course like AMERSTD 98: Deconstructing America: Mythology and Hidden History.
• Explore America in the world through study abroad.
• Attend a California American Studies Association event.
• Apply for a Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship to support your senior thesis.
• Challenge yourself with an American Studies honors seminar and experience individual research mentorship.

AREAS OF CONCENTRATION
American Studies majors develop individual concentrations that focus on specific issues relating to U.S. culture, politics, economy, environment, and media. Students are able to draw on a broad spectrum of fields of knowledge, including law, business, ecology, geography, political economy, public policy, architecture, performance, and ethnic, gender, and urban studies. Designed around the axes of “time,” “place,” and material culture, we teach students how to ask and answer scholarly questions and how to design and execute a capstone senior thesis project.

I loved having the flexibility of being able to take some of the best classes from some of the best professors and being able to apply a breadth of knowledge from different disciplines.

— Catherine Ladd, Class of 2018

DESIGN YOUR JOURNEY

FIRST YEAR
- Meet with faculty, major, and college advisor to discuss academic plans.
- Review the American Studies website and student handbook, and research possible concentrations.
- Enroll in AMERSTD 10 & other lower division prerequisites now or before your third year.

SECOND YEAR
- Review your degree progress/journeys with a faculty advisor and plan your concentration.
- Complete lower division prerequisites and declare the major (required when you complete 60 units).
- Consider enrolling in a "Time" or "Place" course. Complete any prerequisites for your concentration courses.

THIRD YEAR
- Focus on upper division requirements in your concentration.
- Review your degree progress with your faculty, major, and college advisors.
- Browse American Studies graduate profiles for thesis abstracts.

FOURTH YEAR
- Review your degree progress with your faculty, major, and college advisors.
- Do a degree check to ensure you are on track to graduate and complete any remaining major, college, and campus requirements.
- Complete your senior thesis.
