INTRODUCTION TO THE MAJOR

The Ancient Greek and Roman Studies (AGRS) major is an opportunity to explore Mediterranean antiquity in the company of a diverse cohort of undergraduates. AGRS professors are renowned for innovative scholarship and dedication to undergraduate teaching. Students explore multiple disciplines within the ancient Mediterranean world including archaeology, literature, philosophy, and many more. The major can be completed in English or include the study of Greek and/or Latin language. Students develop their own personalized program of study in close consultation with our advising team.

AMPLIFY YOUR MAJOR

- Participate in archaeological field work with an AGRS professor.
- Learn research techniques by assisting a professor through a URAP position.
- Achieve a broader perspective on AGRS through study abroad.
- Expand your knowledge of an AGRS subject by pursuing honors in the major.
- Publish your work in the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics.

THE AGRS COMMUNITY

Being a part of AGRS is to be connected with a community at Berkeley and beyond:

- AGRS hosts gatherings and lectures.
- Our student club, The Classical Forum, connects students from multiple majors.
- Our advising team includes a professional advisor and two faculty advisors. Students have support in course planning, student life, career exploration, and navigating the university.
- Get to know our graduate students who lead discussion sections and teach some language courses. Learn directly about graduate education.

HOW TO USE THIS MAP

Use this map to help plan and guide your experience at UC Berkeley, including academic, co-curricular, and discovery opportunities. Everyone’s Berkeley experience is different and activities in this map are suggestions. Always consult with your advisors whenever possible for new opportunities and updates.

<td>Explore your major</td>
<td>Connect and build community</td>
<td>Discover your passions</td>
<td>Engage locally and globally</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Take a Freshman Seminar with an Ancient Greek and Roman Studies (AGRS) professor. Meet with your major and college advisor to discuss your academic plans. Enroll in AGRS 10A or 10B (Greek or Roman civilization) or AGRS 11A or 11B (Greek or Roman archaeology).</td>
<td>Get involved with Berkeley Connect and L&amp;S Mentors Program. Sign up for the AGRS undergraduate email list and start attending department events. Find study groups, tutoring, and academic support at the Student Learning Center.</td>
<td>Visit a professor or graduate student instructor during office hours. Discuss assignments and ask about studying the ancient Mediterranean world. Read the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics. Start Greek or Latin with an elementary course.</td>
<td>Sign up for the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) if eligible. Join the Classical Forum and explore student organizations related to your community or hobbies. Discover new interests in a student-run DeCal course.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Declare the AGRS major. Take an upper division AGRS class such as “The History of Hell,” “The Roman Economy,” or “The Trojan War: History or Myth.” Look into Berkeley Study Abroad.</td>
<td>Get involved with the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics. Check out departmental resources from AGRS. Attend the Sather Lecture series. Connect with a research librarian and learn to use the vast library resources.</td>
<td>Enroll in a Sophomore Seminar. Big Ideas Course or Discovery Course. Develop research skills in HUM W101: Research Bootcamp. Find research and funding opportunities in the OURS database.</td>
<td>Work with a community organization in an American Cultures Engaged Scholarship course. Go on a service-learning trip with the Alternative Breaks Program. Find service opportunities through the Public Service Center.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Review degree progress with your major and college advisor. Ask your major advisor about the AGRS honors program. Begin preparing for archaeological summer field school in Nemea or Rome.</td>
<td>Work with peers and graduate students in HUM 196: Mentored-Research and Discovery Groups. Join the Society for Classical Studies. Consider submitting your work to the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics.</td>
<td>Do research in the Undergraduate Research Apprenticeship Program (URAP). Planning a senior thesis or project? Apply to the Haas Scholars Program or SURF. Attend the annual Prickett Lecture hosted by Ancient History &amp; Mediterranean Archaeology (AHMA).</td>
<td>Volunteer to represent AGRS at an event. Study and intern in government with UCDC or Cal in the Capital. Apply for a department travel award to support study, travel, or excavation abroad.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do a degree check to ensure you are on track to graduate. Complete any “bucket list” courses. Finish remaining major, college, and campus requirements. Complement your major with a certificate, course thread, or summer minor.</td>
<td>Get support for your thesis project in the Townsend Honors Thesis Workshop. Become an editor of the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics. Connect with alumni groups and build your network as you prepare to graduate.</td>
<td>Teach an AGRS DeCal course. Undertake an optional honors thesis or independent study. Keep pursuing your interests through a fellowship or gap year after graduation.</td>
<td>Hone your leadership skills with the Peter E. Haas Public Service Leaders program. Explore service opportunities after graduation, such as Peace Corps. Teach for America, or U.S. Department of State.</td>
