INTRODUCTION TO THE MAJOR

The Department of Music grants a B.A. degree in Music and also a minor in Music. The department is dedicated to a holistic liberal education in the arts and humanities and thus involves students in all aspects of the study of music: theoretical and creative studies, historical and cultural studies, music and technology, and performance.

The Music major may serve as pre-professional training for the student seeking a career in music or provide a lasting source of enrichment for the student with other career goals. A performance audition is not required to declare the major.

HOW TO USE THIS MAP

Use this map to help plan and guide your experience at UC Berkeley, including academic, co-curricular, and discovery opportunities. Everyone’s Berkeley experience is different and activities in this map are suggestions. Always consult with your advisors whenever possible for new opportunities and updates.

Visit ue.berkeley.edu/majormaps for the latest version of this major map.

CAPSTONE AND HONORS

A capstone project, taken concurrently with one additional course, concludes the major during senior year. Capstone projects may include performance recitals, music compositions, scholarly papers, or digital creations, among others.

Music offers an honors program that may be substituted for the capstone requirement in the senior year to develop a more in-depth honors project working with a faculty advisor in any area of music studies. Visit music.berkeley.edu-major-requirements for information on major requirements.

AMPLIFY YOUR MAJOR

- Look into complementary opportunities. There are a large number of Music double majors with fields such as Theater, Dance and Performance Studies, Molecular and Cell Biology, Rhetoric, Physics, Political Economy, English, Business Administration, and more.
- Dive into performance opportunities with the school.
